

Barry L. Stanton

The Frederick Board of County Commissioners appointed Barry Stanton to serve as County Manager of Frederick County Government as of October 29, 2010.

Mr. Stanton brings over 31 years of professional experience in organizational management, public safety policy development and strategic management planning to the position that will report directly to the Board of County Commissioners.

Mr. Stanton has served as Assistant County Manager since January 2007. His accomplishments include oversight of the Frederick County Emergency Management Policy Advisory Committee, which prepared continuity of operations plans and legal annexes for county disaster preparedness; serving as Acting Director of the Division of Fire & Rescue Services and Division of Public Works; reorganization of the Division of Fire & Rescue Services and the hiring of a new director; supervision of the Office of Volunteer Fire & Rescue Services, and oversight of nine county divisions, as well as the Office of Environmental Sustainability.

He oversaw the county's strategic plan accomplishments where division directors achieved 95.5 percent of the objectives set by the Board of County Commissioners. Mr. Stanton was also instrumental in setting up the county's Legislative Affairs and Constituent Services Programs and the new Office of Environmental Sustainability, as well as designating a new Ethics Compliance Administrator.

He currently serves on the Chief Administrative Officer and Homeland Security Committees and the Interoperability Council for the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments.

Prior to joining the county as Assistant County Manager, Mr. Stanton served as Director of Corrections for the Prince George's County Department of Corrections until 1997. His responsibilities included supervision of approximately 600 employees, 2,000 inmates and 400 volunteers, oversight of a $65 million dollar budget, management of a $30 million capital construction program, and strategic and organizational planning.

Previously, Mr. Stanton was Corrections Bureau Chief from 1991-1997 at the Frederick County Corrections Bureau of the Sheriff's Office. He developed and coordinated the training academy; managed a $15 million capital construction project; oversaw the Work Release, Community Service and Pretrial Release Programs; handled media and community relations, and ensured the safety of staff, inmates and visitors.

Between 1985 and 1991, he rose through the ranks at the Correction Bureau, from Correction Officer/Shift Commander to Coordinator of Training and Compliance/Accreditation and Director of Security.

Mr. Stanton is a graduate of Frederick High School, Cheyney State University (Cheyney, Pa.) with a bachelor's degree in Sociology and the University of Phoenix (Columbia, Md.) with a master's degree in Organizational Management.
